As an accomplished and engaging speaker Chris uses stories and humour blended with an extensive knowledge of the latest research and trends, to deliver informative and relevant addresses to a variety of audiences.

About Chris

Chris started his professional career as a youth worker, and for 10 years worked closely with teenagers in various settings. He holds a Masters Degree in Education and is the founder of Understanding Teenagers.

Chris has worked extensively with adults who live or work with teenagers. He has trained and mentored many aspiring youth workers, has been as a lecturer for tertiary youth worker courses, written articles and papers for various publications including peer reviewed journals, and spoken at numerous conferences and training events.

Chris has also worked in various business roles for both small and big business and has an avid interest in how digital media is shaping the way teenagers engage the world.

Chris lives on the South Coast of NSW and loves spending his spare time with his wife and daughter.
